

The most dangerous ones are red striped elephants
Especially beware their venomous trunks
Their colours are their natural camouflage
They're huge but can easily hide in a jungle

They build nests on the highest parts of a tree
Their grasping tails and hypnotic huge ears
Makes them cruel, efficient killing machines
Their gleaming eyes freeze everyone in the jungle

Never go there alone without our skilled guides
Trained for years in habits of this heartless kind,
In passing far away from the trumpeting packs
They'll help you to live through nice holiday in the jungle
