

Bend

Parabelle

Is this where the pieces fit?
We came along and made a mess of it
And you still remember who's to blame
And she said...

I know a man like you
It's hard to heal with your wounds open
It breaks my heart to let you go,
But let you go, I did

My heart's a lot like yours
It hurts when it gets broken, you know
I'm not here to build you up
'Cause you let me down when I needed you the most

My world's a lot like yours
It gets judged for what it's worth, and you know
I'm not here to make things rough
'Cause you're not enough, I just needed you to bend

Meant for me?
Who really wants to talk about yesterday?
Yesterday is a vacant town
It all fades when no one knows your name
Is what she said really what she said when she said...

My heart's a lot like yours
It hurts when it gets broken, you know
I'm not here to build you up
'Cause you let me down when I needed you to mend

My world's a lot like yours
It gets judged for what it's worth, and you know
I'm just here 'till it gets rough
'Cause you broke apart when I needed you to bend

When all the promises are gone
When all that carries us is wrong
When weak becomes your something strong
I'm lost, I'm found, I'm here, I'm all around

When something old is something new
When what you borrowed makes you blue
When you have done all you can do
You're getting close, you're getting close

My heart is always yours
No matter where you go
If there's one thing I know for sure
It's that we won't break no matter how much we bend