

Do you think you could listen for a change? cuz I can't take much more screaming in your ear don't want bother you, I'm on the side of the road don't want to be a pain, don't want to let you know don't want to bother you, don't wanna be ashamed cuz I know I'll take more than you can take

Do you think you could speak up for a change? cuz I won't take much more of feeling I'm not here don't wanna bother you, I've done enough for years don't wanna hold you down, don't wanna hold your fears don't want to bother you or try to offend cuz it takes one step and then you're gone with the wind

If I never see you I'll hope you've stayed the same and if the words don't come to me just know I'm wrong, I'm sorry

I think you should know there's a pathway ahead whether words are mispoken or if they're never said your voice is a siren, an alert in my head but I can't stand to be near you, I can't live without it give one word with a natural force cuz I'm not listening to anything of course

hold back, are you giving in one last time?

I think you should know there's a pathway ahead
whether words are mispoken or if they're never said
your voice is a siren, an alert in my head but I can't stand
to be near you, I can't live without it