

Your Starry Eyes

Parabelle

If I had known
That this would be the last time we'd be alone
Well I know, the words I chose
Would not have been the ones I spoke,
If I had known,

And I just want to know you one more time
And say that you make me feel alive,
If everything has died
You better star out your eyes

If you had known
That this would be the last time we'd be alone
Would you be unaware?
That your forgotten fallen star
Was burning out but it lit my whole life

I just want to know you one more time
And say that you make me feel alive,
If everything has died
You better star out your eyes

Do you even care?
That you gave up searching somewhere,
When we fall out of love, out of love
We fall out alone somewhere,

I just want to know you one more time
And say that you make me feel alive,
If everything has died
You better star out your eyes

(We fall out, we fall out)
Your starry eyes will never make us even
