

Well I sold myself short,
Again and again.
Just to be what you needed,
A means to an end.
I swore you were worth it,
I swore I wouldn't feel a thing.

I'm in between hate, love
And finding myself.
So hopelessly tethered to your picture on the shelf,
Because I know you're not hurting
And that hurts most if all.

Singing ohhhh,
You played me like a fool,
You took what you need
And left me here headed and used.

Why'd you have to go and ruin everything?
Why'd you have to tell me
All your hopes and dreams,?
Why can't you just pick the phone up when it rings?
I've been calling all night...

Singing ohhhh,
You played me like a fool,
You too what you needed
And left me here jaded and used.
Singing ohhhhh, you played me like a fool,
You took what you needed
And left me here jaded and used.

Here's to feeling like I'm never enough,
Here's to giving all I had for this love.
Here's to distance and longing
And what still is haunting my head.
Here's to doing this over again.
Here's to living with all this regret,
I've never been a quitter
And that makes me much more bitter in the end.

Singing ohhhh,
You played me like a fool,
You took what you needed
And left me here jaded and used.
Singing ohhhh, you played me like a fool,
You took what you needed
And left me here jaded and used.
You left me here used.
