

Say you love me when you're out the door Words are fake and your actions say so much more Tonight I'm trying to decipher these lies you're denying But you break my heart when you take my hand Well, listen baby, can you please try to understand?
You're not crying
When you say it's not working out You're lying

She bleeding confidence Just at my expense
these shades of blue and red were always wrong and never right it seemed Your silhouetted thinking has left these ringing chords in the end you'll get what you deserved a broken heart
a broken heart you can't mend comatose on the ballroom floor your body's broken your mind just can't handle more You are dying to tell all the secrets you're hiding but forget yourself when the music plays your favorite song's been playing for three straight days you're so blinding you're breaking me down with this body I'm eyeing

She's bleeding confidence Just at my exense
these shades of blue and red were always wrong
and never right it seemed
Your silhouetted thinking
has left these ringing chords in the end
You'll get what you deserved
a broken heart
a broken heart you can't

I've been dying to get this right but it's just a losing fight and it's only a matter of time tonight

and I've been dying to get this right but it's just a losing fight
and it's only a matter of time
tonight

she's bleeding confidence
just at my expense

She's bleeding confidence
just at my expense

these shades of violet were always wrong
and never right it seemed
your silhouetted thinking
has left these ringing chords in the end you'll get what you deserve
a broken heart
a broken heart you can't mend