Victor Would

Parokya Ni Edgar

I blame you for being what you are
I blame you for what I'm going through right now
I'm sorry if these words don't come out right
I'm sorry now that I don't have anyone to blame

Yeah I did everything I could just to make say I would
Do anything for you
And I want to say you're mine
But you came to me just fine but you threw it all away

I open my eyes while dreaming
And my visions of you start fading
I hope that you wouldn't stop believing
Wait up coz my horizons are changing

Yeah I did everything I could just to make say I would
Do anything for you
And I want to say you're mine
But you came to me just fine but you threw it all away

So you bring the facts of life to me
That you come to make me see everything's gonna be alright
Never thought you would've realize
Part of me is confusing our lives
With the feelings I've got from you
Yeah

Yeah I did everything I could just to make say I would
Do anything for you
And I want to say you're mine
But you came to me just fine but you threw it all away