

Runaway

Passenger

Well my heart's a runaway
Living by the campfire light
Yeah, my love's a stowaway
Slipping out into the night

But hey, I can feel it
I don't want to run this time
I can feel it now
Hey, I can feel it
Shining like the sun this time
I know now
I don't want to run away
I don't want to run away

Well my soul's a castaway
Tired of being alone
Yeah, my love gets thrown away
Anyway the wind gets blown

But hey, I can feel it
I don't want to stray this time
I can feel it now
Hey, I can feel it
Pouring down like the rain this time
I know now
I don't want to runaway

Trains never get no peace
They keep on running till their engine cease
If I keep on running and I don't stand still
I won't know love, no, I never will

And rolling stones never find the home
Cos they keep on rolling through life alone
If I keep on rolling down the same old hill
I'll never know love, I never will, and oh

I can feel it
I don't want to search no more
I can feel it now
Hey, I can feel it
It's never felt so good before
I know now
I don't want to runaway, hey
I don't want to runaway, hey
And I don't want to run away, hey
I don't want to run away
