

Spin Me Around

Patent Pending

We'll swim to the center of the ocean begin to investigate the notion that the world's got more than just the two of us We'll fly the entire solar system to find whatever scientist convince him that the world belongs to more than the two of us You're the air in my lungs you're the song on my tongue that keeps me singin' over and over Oh baby you spin me around just like I always want you to baby I figured you out you keep me spinning with the things that you do Now even if the world stops turning I'll stay in motion here with you and if the sky comes crashing down we'll always have the sound yeah you spin me around We'll race the moon until we find a place that we can call our own and soon enough it's just the two of us You're the proof that perfection can exist and the truth is it will break my heart to miss one day one hour one moment here with you You're the air in my lungs
that keeps me singin' over and over
just like I always want you to
baby I figured you out
you keep me spinning with the things that you do
Now even if the world stops turning
I'll stay in motion here with you
and if the sky comes crashing down
The ups and downs cant catch me anymore the one and only thing I know for sure is that your eyes spin me dizzy when you walk in the room no time for getting busy cause I'm busy with you spending all of our time chasing sunsets hoping I can set down next to you And we'll hold each other till the day we grow old and think of all the times that I told you I love you more than life itself
Oh baby you spin me around
just like I always want you to
you keep me spinning with the things that you do
Now even if the world stops turning
I'll stay in motion here with you
and if the sky comes crashing down
you spin me around
