Lesson learned we returned burned, scared, and alone. (exactly how they said it would be) state your case keep the pace face down in the mess we made back home we can give more than this though it kills me and I'm sorry for the people that we all used to be we can give more than just believe if we smile just a little more get angry after all we've been fighting for then I don't believe that we can ignore this love can save us all this love can save us all coming to pulling through who's living the good life? (I'm exactly where I needed to be) driving back losing track pack only what's needed to survive and now finally we say we believe that we smile 'cause we didn't fade can you believe that we are so helpless? this love can save us all.
