

Valentine

Patent Pending

Just kiss me on the lips and leave me gasping for my breath so I could know just how it feels to be alive. it's my area of expertise that leaves me losing every piece of me and I never meant to fully fall behind until you save me you always pick up the pieces and save me from myself I wrote this song for you the next one too and everything I every do
it's all for you,
my little valentine.
The lost and found can't find me and I'm out here all alone but there's a tiny voice that guides me back to home every mile in this van I'm driving close to the sands to the sea cliff house I've come to call my own let's get the boat and sail away
and leave the world
a couple days
never step a foot on shore again an SOS to my best friend who forever makes me whole again
it's all for you,
my little valentine