

Seasons

Patrice

Spring Time

I Wake Up And Close My Eyes

You Gave Me Butterflies

As Our Love Was On The Rise

Summer

The Season Has Reached Its Height

Love Making Through The Night

Until The Morning Light.

Autumn

I See Colours Fading Out

The Heat Is Cooling Down

And Leaves Are Falling To The Ground.

As In Winter

Were Out Of What We Had

We Looking For Excuses

But Our Love Is Simply Dead

But It Is Cold So Cold

And Clouds Burry Us Like Snow.

We Were So Bold To Hold

On To Love Like Gold.

And It's So Beautiful

When Ever Nature Does Her Thing;

Oh It's So Beautiful

Just Like A Queen And A King.

And The Rain Yes The Rain

Couldn't Wash Away My Blame,

Yes The Rain Ah The Rain

Couldn't Wash Away My Blame

Spring Time

I Wake Up And Close My Eyes

You Gave Me Butterflies

Summer

The Season Has Reached Its Height

Love Making Through The Night

Until The Morning Light.

Autumn

I See Colours Fading Out

The Heat Is Cooling Down

And Leaves Are Falling To The Ground.

As In Winter

Were Out Of What We Had

We Looking For Excuses

But Our Love Is Simply Dead

But Life's A Circle

And We Are In It

Some Wait For Miracles

We Push The Limits.

Through Ups And Downs,

Hills And Valleys

I Have Travelled

And I'm Far From Finished.

I Keep It Moving ,

Keep It Spinning,

See I Wouldn't Be Me Today
If It Wasn't For The Shit I've Been In.
Can't Be Losing Everwinning
Don't Get Caught Up In Winter Take It Back To The Beginning

The Right Road Is Rocky (Raggy) And The Hill Is Steep.
If You Forget To Fast And Neglect The Past Will You Find Your Peace
