

J'Te l'Dis Quand Meme

Patrick Bruel

I'm still telling you

We could have told all that to each other
Elsewhere than at the cafe down there
That you would maybe leave
And maybe you wouldn't even come back
But anyway , what's sure
Is that we could have laughed it off
So we're going to break up like that ,
Like fools in front of the cafe down there
Like in a B movie
We both suck
We've been making fun so many times
Of the people who do that
But I find no chorus for our story
All the words that occur to me are pathetic
I pretty much know I've said it too much
But I'm still telling you .. I love you
I still want to thank you
For all the mean words we've never told to each other
Some people are laughing already
I don't care , I've never liked them
We looked too happy together
Some people can't stand that
But I find no chorus for our story
All the words that occur to me are pathetic
I pretty much know I've said it too much
But I'm still telling you .. I love you
I still want to thank you
For all the mean words we've never told to each other
Some people are laughing already
I don't care , I've never liked them
We looked too happy together
Some people can't stand that
But I find no chorus for our story
All the words that occur to me are pathetic
I pretty much know I've said it too much
But I'm still telling you .. I love you
I pretty much know I've said it too much
But I'm still telling you .. I love you
.. I love you .
