

Hearts

Patrick Watson

Hearts, watch them falling,
watch them shatter together.
Because they can't see where they're going,
they're just following.
Under the weather they follow each other.
Run, run, run...
Run faster down the breakery.
You can hide, keep on hiding,
cause when you find you is gonna hurt a lot.
Into the weather they hurt each other,
spinning together...
Uuh...
Scream!
Scream louder!
So that you two can hear each other
Over reasons, over the pleasure
Keep on screaming until you can't remember.
Under the weather they keep on screaming,
spinning together.
Uuhh...
Keep on screaming til the knife gets off the tongue.
There's a double homicide and the love's been another's fire.
When they talk with their knives til they tell their hearts apart.
When keep wrecking and wrecking and wrecking (and wrecking this heart!)
Aahh...
Now, now that it's over,
oh will they leave the harm for each other?
Those crazy loves, they'll never run
You can turn and you turn until you can find another
Those crazy loves, they'll never run
But they try and you try just to find some sparkling love
Those crazy lives, they'll never love
You can turn and they turn just to find another one
Those crazy lives, they'll never love
You could tell and they tell if just you find anyone
They can tell and you tell just to find another one
You can tell and you tell if any can find anyone
Are we living behind?
