

The Bells

Patti LaBelle

I'll never hear the bells if you leave me
I'll never hear the bells
I'll never hear the bells if you leave me
I'll never hear the bells

Do you hear what I hear
When your lips are kissing mine
Do you hear my bells honey
Do you hear them ringing
When I'm kissing you baby

What do I have to do
To make you feel the tingling too
Can't you hear the bells honey
Say it's just as good to you as it is to me

I hear the bells, I hear the bells
Oh ringing in my ears
Oh saying do you love me, do you love me
Do you love me, do you love me
Like I love you oh baby

True love and joy, faith and all my strength
I'll give to you darling
My love is yours exclusively
To enjoy any way you want to

But it's one thing I want you to remember
If you ever leave, I believe I'll go insane
Darling I'll never hear the bells again, no, no, no, no, no

Oh baby don't leave me, don't leave me baby
Oh baby don't leave me, don't leave me baby