Uh oh

I'm being pulled into the fire of intoxic flame I'm too close And there's a good chance that I won't get away And I needed going into the daylight And I'm looking for it into the night Then I think about it and I can't live without it You're telling me that, that's alright Can't get enough, can't get enough When you're telling me the white lies, champagne It's getting rough and I wanna know If I'm addicted to your white lies in vain Can't get enough, can't get enough When you're telling me the white lies, champagne It's getting rough and I wanna know If I'm addicted to your white lies in vain Can't get enough, can't get enough When you're telling me the white lies, champagne It's getting rough and I wanna know If I'm addicted to your white lies in vain Can't get enough, can't get enough When you're telling me the white lies, champagne It's getting rough and I wanna know If I'm addicted to your white lies in vain Don't go I tell myself that I'm not really hooked on you But I know If I stay then your use will become abuse When I'm trying not to break the fever And the medicine you just won't take Then I think about it and I can't live without it You're telling me that, that's alright Can't get enough, can't get enough When you're telling me the white lies, champagne It's getting rough and I wanna know If I'm addicted to your white lies in vain Can't get enough, can't get enough When you're telling me the white lies, champagne It's getting rough and I wanna know If I'm addicted to your white lies in vain Can't get enough, can't get enough When you're telling me the white lies, champagne It's getting rough and I wanna know If I'm addicted to your white lies in vain Can't get enough, can't get enough When you're telling me the white lies, champagne It's getting rough and I wanna know If I'm addicted to your white lies in vain