

Just A Little Misunderstanding

Paul Young

It took a proud man to hurt his woman
And watch her walk away crying
When all alone he knows he's wrong
To be so hard on a woman's trying
I was so unkind to hurt you so going out of my mind
I just got to let you know that
Baby I can't let you go
I realise I hurt you so
Our love surely can be mended
It's just a little misunderstanding
I remember you said
You would always care
Till death should we two part
And it surely must be my destiny
To dare a devil of a broken heart
So before I became
A wondering over
Let's get together now don't you think oh
Baby I can't let you go
I realise I hurt you so
Our love surely can be mended
It's just a little misunderstanding
That's all it is
We've been loving so long it just seems wrong
That our love should never be
It would be anywhere baby I wouldn't care
If I thought that you needed me
All the chains is the world can't hold me
Like a robot your love controls me
