

Painted Ladies

Pavlov's Dog

Well it's been here and there and gone
There's only you and the stars above
Well you're only holding hands
And listening past the cars
Just forget it all in the morning if you can
Just forget it all in the morning if you can

Then you're up or down and yet you're somehow turned around
And lately things aren't happening as they are
There's all the love that I've found
And that you somehow turned around
And regret it all in the morning if you can
Just forget it all in the morning if you can

Painted ladies don't cry
And they seldom say good bye
Take what you want to, but get it anyway
Painted ladies don't mind
You're going to leave them by and by
Take what you want to, they have it all
