Yellow Moon

Here far away One could feel the earth vibrate Moon changing shape and shade As we all do under its gaze Yellow moon on the rise Yellow moon on the rise

Round we go, where we stop no one knows So tonight the moon I go Yellow moon on the rise

An echo that rings a bullet unchained One life, one grave joins the parade

At night the sky grows dark with fallen stars Who comes so far a headstone and grave The colors turns grey, the black and white fades

Yellow Moon on the rise Yellow Moon on the rise
