

Never Leave a Job Half Done

Pedro the Lion

blood stains on the carpet blood stains on my hands drag her toward the kitchen hide the evidence oh the toil a lie can bring that quitters never know but lies can be the perfect things if they never show

the crisis posed a question just beneath the skin the virtue in my veins reply that quitters never win she almost ruined everything