

The Mask

Pendragon

she wears the mask that hides the scars from a shattered dream oat existence
I'm held in suspended animation waiting for her finger to release the pause on the video screen I'm bleached clean now I've had enough the dreams of love the dancing moonlight on the water got a passion drive to keep alive but I still want my circles with corners stand up stand up she always wears the mask that hides her face stand up stand up she always wears the mask of elegance and gra ce
she wears the mask that hides the scars from a shattered dream oat existence I'm held in suspense and fascination I'm writing all the words and the scenes another curtain call and King Lear tragedies you said it was all perfume and wax crayon the dreams of love
the dancing moonlight on the water
got a passion drive to keep alive
but I still want my circles with corners
stand up stand up she always wears the mask that hides her face
stand up stand up she always wears the mask of elegance and gra
ce
she always wears the mask that hides the scars from me