

One Reason

Pennywise

You take the best away
From me then give it all away
You can't control yourself
For anyone
Don't think that you could ever see
That things are not the same
You can't control yourself
For anything

Give me one reason to stop your fall
Give me one reason to Answer Your call
Give me one reason why I should care at all

Don't think you could understand
But logic rips away
The mask that you put on
For everyone
You feel it slipping from your hands
Still you manipulate
You can't control yourself
For Anything

Give me one reason to stop your fall
Give me one reason to Answer Your call
Give me one reason why I should care at all

Let someone look inside at what's
Behind the mask where you hide
A mixture of pain and pride the real
You that's been Denied

Won't you give me one reason?

Give me one reason to stop your fall
Give me one reason to Answer Your call
Give me one reason why I should care at all
