

A Torrent Of Fears

Penumbra

As a sad face Sailing and slides
In a bright ocean
Pursing a kind life
Under a flapping rain
Of steam of mist

And in this bar
He fails and drinks
And in this burning Alcohol he sinks down Forgetting his misfortune,
His anxiety and his fear

Il entre dans l'allée royale, D'office ses sujets,
prend la timbale d'or
Le sceptre et la couronne, Il se sert, se bat et ordonne

Flames are falling in his brain
Of enlightened madman.

Et maintenant
il entre dans la danse des siècles, Et d'un pouvoir immense,
il règne sur tous ces esprits Tremblants au regard si vide, pauvre peuple oublié

Dans sa folie de l'ordre qui le mène la mort, Telle une horde avançant,
goumissante,
Se heurtant et coups de poings, s'entre-tuant.

From a leftover smoke from a candle put out A torrent of fears shakes him despite his laugh that rings As an old bell out of tune and empty in the whistling wind, A light tune on the reef and he sniggers like this reptile Which is strutting in this marsh where wise men get bogged
...Down