

Priestess

Periphery

A shadow in these walls
Yeah that is all I am
A prison deep under fortress crowns
Where they spill the blood of man

A second chance at life is all I've dreamed of
For now inside these walls I stay

Sitting far away I watched the blackness grow
Nevermind what is underneath the stone
It's a life that we're living all alone
Step out in the rain and feel the deep sorrow
Light is coming from the narrow road

Sometimes kindness speaks in tongues with one of them
I can see love in her eyes
And if I fall death will never stain one of his hands
I find safety in these lives

A second chance at life is all I've dreamed of
for now inside these walls I stay
Sitting far away I watched the blackness grow
Nevermind what is underneath the stone
This life we live alone
Step out in the rain and feel the deep sorrow
Light is coming from the narrow road

The chains are part of me
Still in resolve I bathe
Down here
I need to find a way
I've gotta find my way far from here

Another chance at life is fading slowly
Upon the cross I burn

Sitting far away I watched the blackness grow
Nevermind what is underneath the stone
This life we live alone
Step out in the rain and feel the deep sorrow
Light is coming from the narrow road

Sitting far away i watched the blackness grow
Nevermind what is underneath the stone
This life we live alone
Step out in the rain to feel the deep sorrow lLight is coming from the narrow road
