

Saddest Quo

Pernice Brothers

There's a train wreck
Picking up survivors from a plane crash
On the TV live
And it's a sad, status quotient

Trying to be a better person...
Hindsight's 20 and my visibility is worsening
All the accolytes are choking
But my faith in life's unbroken
Want to leave this room better than I found it
Love my neighbor
When I feel like I couldn't even give a shit

All the hypocrites are choking
On their blind faith far from broken

There's a train wreck
Picking up survivors from a plane crash

On the TV live
And it's a sad, status quotient
Waiting for the sky to fall

It's getting hard to sleep when I lay my head down
{something something}
Till my part to execute a sleeping town.
All the accolytes are choking
On their blind faith far from broken

There's a train wreck
Picking up survivors from a plane crash
On the TV live
And it's a sad, status quotient
Waiting for the sky to fall

{a lot of something something}

... cruelest joke
My ancient thoughts feel new