

I Don't Know What He Told You

Perry Como

I don't know what he told you,
The stranger at the party.
I only know you met him
An' now you can't forget him,
He's a stranger no more!
I can't believe it happened
I never dreamed you'd leave me
We were so good together
I thought we'd share forever
The love we had before!
Is there an explanation to ease my sorrow?
Is it infatuation, will it fade tomorrow?
Until you let me know, my love won't let me go
My heart won't close the door!
And while you make your mind up
I beg you to remember
Although his arms may hold you
I don't know what he told you,
But he couldn't love you more!

Until you let me know, my love won't let me go
My heart won't close the door!
And while you make your mind up
I beg you to remember
Although his arms may hold you
I don't know what he told you,
But he couldn't love you more!
. . . he couldn't love you more!
