Pete Murray

Well you broke me with your smile And I'm captured now Like I've just drank a thousand year potion Mix your tears into my wine Please hold my life And let me know when you are back open

Please embrace my soul While you find your way However far you roam In my heart you'll stay

Well you burn me with your fire Any faults you had were always hidden by your sweet devotion Lord I hope you know I'm trying These dark old clouds still cover me with doubts every moment

Please embrace my soul While you find your way However far you roam In my heart you'll stay

Please embrace my soul While you find your way However far you roam In my heart you'll stay

Please embrace my soul While you find your way However far you roam In my heart you'll stay

You'll stay
