

A Mutual Misunderstanding

Peter Bjorn and John

This mutual misunderstanding here, I said
But it's obviously just been inside my head.
No matter what I'd say
They won't be listening today.
A correspondence has usually no point
when done one way.
You should know, you ain't worth it
Why pretend?
They seem to think
You're not on the same level as our friends.
You're not okay.
But if there is no way to get through, in the end
Why bother?
To follow?
Don't expect too much
Some people are always out of touch
There are persons who never let you in, once they (?) nothing
