We are like stones built together in a wall Made up of whosoever the Master Builder calls We are not worthy but together we are strong Built on the Rock of Ages the wall is almost done

Come and join us in the sunlight
You've been sittin' in the shade too long
Come and give us a chance to sing you a song
Come and join us in the sunlight
If you would reach you could touch the sky
Come and drink from the well that will never run dry

We are like stranger and pilgrims in this world Lifting the blood stained banner our flag has been unfurled We have a homeland no eyes have ever seen But those who've gone before us whose souls have been redeemed

Come and join us in the sunlight
You've been sittin' in the shade too long
Come and give us a chance to sing you a song
Come and join us in the sunlight
If you would reach you could touch the sky
Come and drink from the well that will never run dry

We are like children held in the Father's hand Growing into the image of Christ the Son of Man We are not perfect but changing every day Through trials and tribulation we'll find the perfect way

Come and join us in the sunlight
You've been sittin' in the shade too long
Come and give us a chance to sing you a song
Come and join us in the sunlight
If you would reach you could touch the sky
Come and drink from the well that will never run dry