

Great Lengths

PFR

here i am once again pleading to the sky kneeling to the sands shedding my regrets knowing you'll forget everything why didn't i go to such great lengths to try to please you instead i tried to please myself
in the end when your heart is broken i see the folly of trying to please myself i have not yet arrived seeing anything quiet my desires till they die until they die or align with you will why didn't i go to such great lengths to
try to please you instead i tried to please myself
in the end when your heart is broken
i see the folly of trying to please myself
why didn't i go to such great lengths to
try to please you instead i tried to please myself
in the end when your heart is broken
i see the folly of trying to please myself