

Nobody's Fault

Phantom Planet

Everything is okay, everything is fine
I give you everything you ask for don't be so unkind
Every time you're mad 'bout every little thing
It's too soon to pull out or pull out that wedding ring.

I'm so ready I'm not ready
This little boy is running right back home
I guess it's nobody's fault now but my own

Never had the patience, never had the time
Never knew that working hard was such a crime
I thought I could make it happy down the line
But I guess it's been over since you've heard this heart of mine

On you mark, get set go
This little boy is running right back home
I guess it's nobody's fault now but my own

I thought I could make it happy down the line
But I guess it's been over since you've heard this heart of mine

On your mark get set go
This little boy is running right back home
I guess it's nobody's fault now but my own

But my own
But my own, but my own
But my own
