A Wasteland Of Memories

Through the eye of time go I

If you catch them at the station You must ask them what they see If you walk away without question You will never find what you seek

Look away there's no escape They've got you in the database

Phideaux