

Thank You For The Evil

Phideaux

Over hill and over dale, the poison pollen's blowing happy trail

By the side of fetid pools they sat and talked of following the rules

It's been gutting them to know it never ends - obedience and sin

Lock down in the safety net, opiated by the television set

Remember that you had a choice, opened up your mouth and had a voice

All you need to know is what you've done, set aside a future for no one

She began to question her conditioning; she ate the apple hungrily

He was a less inclined to see his subjugation under the authorities

They know you - they know you

She became what they would say was just an agitator in the way

He'd become what was to some and enemy of the state

All we want to know is what you've done, set about the future for no one

I said all you've got to do is what you've done, set about the future for no one

By the side of all we knew

We knew

I was separated from you
