Love Is A Beautiful Thing

Look's like everybody's here Had to put some folding chairs in the vestibule Yeah, it's gettin' full Even old Aunt Ruby came Her first time on an airplane It's her sister's girl She wouldn't miss it for the world And all them kids jumpin' in the pew And Mr. Charlie in his lime-green suit is a handsome man Remarks widow Callahan Uncle Joe and Uncle Jake Haven't spoken since '98, just said "Hello." It's a good day to let it go

So let the angels gather Let the music play Let the preacher get to preachin' all the do you takes Love is a beautiful thing Throw the rice in the air Let the church bells ring Tie the cans to the back of that limousine Love is a beautiful thing

Daddy's waiting with the bride As she helps him with his tie she sees a tear He says "Man it's hot in here." He hugs his little girl and asks, "How did you grow up so fast, God, I wish Your momma could be here for this." And everybody stands and smiles As she comes walkin down the aisle in her momma's gown And daddy breaks on down Gran and gramps in the second row Stood right there 50 years ago And said their vows Yeah I guess that's working out

So let the angels gather Let the music play Let the preacher get to preachin' all the do you takes Love is a beautiful thing Throw the rice in the air Let the church bells ring Tie the cans to the back of that limousine Love is a beautiful thing

A little table full of gifts Catering is cover dish and the wedding band Well, that's on her hand Tommy's teasing Lorali He pushed her down He made her cry And neither one knows, the day will come

When the angels gather And the music plays And the preacher get to preachin' all the do you takes Phil Vassar

Love is a beautiful thing Throw the rice in the air Let the church bells ring Tie the cans to the back of that limousine Love, two people in love is a beautiful thing
