Give You My World

Phil Wickham

There is a love that can't be imagined It comes from the Father of Lights to my soul It overcomes the darkness that I used to hide in It covers me and makes me whole

I want to give You my world To reveal all I am And all I've become I want to give You my world To surrender my life And all that is in me To You

There is a peace that can't be contained It burrows its way to the depths of my soul It changes my life, my entire being It covers me it makes me whole