Freedom's Never Free

Phillips, Craig & Dean

Standing on a hillside Where the river meets the sea White crosses without number Line the fields of peace

And each one a silent witness
Staring back at me
Every cross a story
Of another place in time
Where young men thought it worthy
To give their life for mine
And for the sake of honor
Left their dreams behind

And for the price they paid I'm forever in their debt Their memory will not die 'Cause I will not forget

I will stand and hold my head up high
I will dedicate my life
To the glory of the ones who had to die
I will live, live what I believe
If for no one else but me
I will remember
That freedom's never free

It was on another hillside Outside the city gates The battle lines were drawn As soldiers took their place

The Father watched in silence As a cross was raised With freedom drawing closer He took His final breath He drank our cup of guilt And took the sting from death

Heaven's Finest Soldier clothed in human flesh And for the price He paid I'm forever in His debt The cross will never die 'Cause I will not forget

I will stand and hold my head up high I will dedicate my life
To the glory of the One who had to die I will live, live what I believe
If for no one else but me
To remember that
Freedom's Never Free

I will walk free I will stay free I will live free
