

A Perfectly Good Day

Phoenix Effect

It don't sit well with me to focus on negativity And I don't exactly love the attitude of acting like they knew
For me the world is a mystery, layers of possibility It's a wake up call to face the music
It can all be yours if you dare to choose it

If it ain't working, fine, we'll find another way, another time
No need to undermine what's otherwise a perfectly good day
If it ain't paying off, alright, let it go, just leave it behind
At least you tried, good things still happen in the world each day

I never thought that I would be the one who strives to disagree
But I don't believe in blind obedience, face value's seldom common sense So whose voice is guiding your hand? Whose thoughts are in your head?
So whose voice is in your head?

If it ain't working, fine, we'll find another way,
another time
No need to undermine what's otherwise a perfectly good
day
If it ain't paying off, alright, let it go, just leave
it behind
At least you tried, good things still happen in the world each day
Living in a world where everybody wants to know everything
I confess to knowing nothing
I go by feel for the rhymes to the songs I sing
I go by feel about pretty much anything

It's working fine for me...
Just saying how it could be...
It's working fine for me...
A perfectly good day...

Perfectly good day!

If it ain't working, fine, we'll find another way,
another time
No need to undermine what's otherwise a perfectly good
day
If it ain't paying off, alright, let it go, just leave
it behind
At least you tried, good things still happen in the world each day

If it ain't paying off, alright, let it go, just leave
it behind