Quixotic concept of examining foreign cultures as opportunities for brotherhood and mutual cultivation instinctual xenophobia initiates conflict subjugation exploition and subsequently flawed assimilation our inbred star-bellied mentality cannot differentiate between dissimilar and inferior a self-imposed quarantine from diversity only serves to restrict our capacity to evolve nationalism is a malignant cancer which must be carved out by the blade of individualism.