I Won't Blame You

Your door wide open These words you've spoken Hang like rain clouds pending the storm Cut me slowly Like you owe me I feel like being torn Show me 'round the rooms in your house, Down the hallway to your doubt And I won't blame you I won't blame you I won't blame you A season's ended Our bloodlines blended Lives change with the melting snow There's no easier decisions Just life we've been given Resigned to failing control Show me 'round the rooms in your house Down the hallway to your doubt And I won't blame you I won't blame you I won't blame you Lay them at my table Secrets meant for me Life we know's not simple This loving not for free Show me 'round the rooms in your house Down the hallway to your doubt And I won't blame you I won't blame you I won't blame you...
