

All the Crossroads

Pillow Fight

All the crossroads
Are questioning all my stars
All the crossroads
are dividing whole my life and my heartache, too far is my place
I've just yesterday met all my hopes
And still I don't understand

That All the crossroads
Are bringing me far away
That all the crossroads
Are leading me off my way
I can't make it elsewhere straying in nowhere
I've no place to stay in my soul still I don't understand

All the crossroads
Are meant to slow me down
All the crossroads
To loose all that have been mine
And all of my friends are staying somewhere
Where I can't find a way and that's why
Still I don't understand

Please don't please don't please don't go away
Promise promise promise you won't leave me wait
I can't I can't I can't find a way
Without you helping me
Understand

All the crossroads
I'm passing on my way down
All the crossroads
Are the same all the time
And we can't change them we can't fight them
We can only hope in due time
That we will understand
