

looking for the answer to get you through the day looking for forgiveness for the games you've played never new the reason for doing what you've done honesty betrays you & the truth is overrun

how can you lie into the face of an angel?
& now you're hiding all the cards on the table how can you look in those eyes?
& never realize you're going down, down, down i guess the world is going down feeling like a stranger left you so alone still not out of danger stories have been told there's no use denying you should take the blame all these years of lying will she ever be the same?

just woke up from my dream i heard her cry i heard her scream does she have to suffer?
to make you understand there can be no other & that's the way she stands take a good hard look before you walk away what a chance you took now she's gone, gone, gone
now she's gone, gone, gone
got you on your knees