

intoxication, running through this veins he feels cold, is he insane? deep in his brain the knows it all but can't explain running on empty, almost out of bread giving all that he's got, taking all he can get feels the end is near as the foreign dreamlands disappear now he's back again, blind with open eyes still alive, still alive leaving once again, can he still deny he's still alive, still alive wish you could see him as he slowly dies to the shame and pain we close our eyes and pass by but the end is near and we know it's his world that we fear

now he's back again, blind with open eyes
still alive, still alive
leaving once again, can he still deny
he's still alive, still alive

see how we got through the stages soon we'll be turning the pages
still alive, still alive
need is a hurting desire life is a walk through the fire
still alive, still alive

intoxication, running through his veins