Do you remember the first kiss? Stars shooting across the sky To come to such a place as this You never left my mind

I'm watching from the wall As in the streets we fight This world all gone to war All I need is you tonight

And I draw a line
To your heart today
'To your heart from mine
A line to keep us safe'

All through the rising sun All through the circling years You were the only one Who could have brought me here

And I draw a line
To your heart today
'To your heart from mine
A line to keep us safe'