

Valerie (The Truth Is In Your Eyes)

Place Vendome

Girl, won't you tell me what have you been through?
I know there's something hidden in your past
A fear deep inside you, got a hold on you
Reveals that certain things must not be asked

Surrounding yourself with strangers
Serving them lies
They ask for your name, you answer

You say it's Valerie
With a fake history
You wish to be such a mystery
But you missed one alibi
The truth that's in your eyes
The truth is in you eyes

Though you try concealing what you really feel
The sweetness in your smile fails to hide
Once it gets too serious, once it gets too rough
You'll be gone before the break up of dawn

Always a different story
You sell and they buy
You pick a name and answer

This time is Kimberly
Each time a new history
A wish to be someone's fantasy
But forgot one thing to hide
The truth that's in your
Kimberly
What every man wants to see you make believe it's reality
But forgot one alibi
The truth is in your eyes

Reflecting all the dreams that you once had Still wishing for the one you could not have

Another useless story
We all wonder why?
Ask for your name, you answer

It's back to Valerie
Though millions of histories
They failed to see what you'd really need
Was someone to reach behind
The truth that's in your...
Valerie
With nothing but mystery and broken dreams
Of what could have been?
If somebody cared to find
The truth that's in your eyes
