

Standing Still Fast

Planes Mistaken For Stars

I strapped my memories to my back I'm leaving.
I'm already gone.
And I was on a train somewhere wishing sweet stings to you.
To make you never forget the poetry in wanting.
I want those days to hold you