

Running Through My Head

Planet Funk

Running through my head

Running through my head

Running through my head

Running through my head

From the eyes and all the houses memory that rises

Running through my head

Warm to the touch and the taste all the seasons in one place

Running through my head

From the clouds to the ground from our hearts the all the sounds

Running through my head