

One Life

Plazma

Your magic injection
Caused my rebirth or resurrection
There is no deception
Now I can see my own reflection
I'm not even afraid of sunshine
And I quietly sleep in moonlight
Keep my windows and doors wide open
I'm alive 'cause you are

My conscience and my honesty
My religion and my poetry
My senses and my consciousness
You're my rescue and my ambulance

There is one day
There is one night
There is one moment that changes life
There was one day
There was one night
There was one moment that changed my life

I took your sweet doping
My mind was barred, I've pried it open
I drank your love-potion
It's set my lifeless heart in motion
Every morning I smile at sunrise
And I wonder just how a bird flies
I'm even starting to take for granted
That I am pretty alive

My conscience and my honesty
My religion and my poetry
My senses and my consciousness
You're my rescue and my ambulance

There is one heart
There is one soul
There is one love that consumes me whole
There was one day
There was one night
There was one moment that changed my life

My inconceivable life
My unbelievable life
My unpredictable life
One life
