Sent Angels

Send angels, send angels, send angels Show me you love me Send angels, send angels, send angels Show me you love me

He felt alone and aging unkind He knew there was trouble with this war inside So to feel young he did what he felt best Emptiness filling every vein He must be going insane To leave an entire world behind

[Repeat Chorus]

Crying the tears he lost as a child He couldn't even recognize The frail and injured man that he'd become Traces of his compromise Shattering his desperate tries Everyone makes a mistake now and then

[Repeat Chorus]
