You said you'd walk up to me any day You'd come a laughing all the while. You'd sit by me and we'd talk about today. whatever happened to your smile?

Keeping your word you've come to me like A stray.

Now I've been witness to a trial And I feel as though it was only yesterday Whatever happened to your smile?

Whatever happened to your smile?
The look upon your face,
The sparkle in your eyes?
The way you'd laugh, but for a while.
Whatever happened to your smile?
Whatever happened to your smile?

I do believe that you will not allow

Yourself to feel like a child And I know it's hard to live for the Here and now But, whatever happened to your smile?

Now that you've come I guess you'll be
On your way
And you'll be travellin' many a mile.
But when you're back i hope that I won't
Have to say
Whatever happened to your smile?

Whatever happened to your smile?
The look upon your face,
The sparkle in your eyes?
The way you'd laugh, but for a while.
Whatever happened to your smile?
Whatever happened to your smile?
