

Morning Tide

Poets of the Fall

Rise with me now
And we'll walk to the shore
We'll look over the waves
To the break of day
I'll hold your hand
I'll hold you close
I'll wipe away your tears
And no one will know

I'm the morning tide
We'll hoist the sails to break the crushing waves
Won't you come with me and hear the ocean side?
And if to its depths it called us by our names
Won't you sail to the shore with me?

Come to me now
And together we'll go
Where the clear winds blow
Far and beyond
Leave in behind
All our sorrow and pride
Kissin' them goodbye
Into another life

I'm the morning tide
We'll hoist the sails to break the crushing waves
Won't you come with me and hear the ocean side?
And if to its depths it called us by our names
Won't you sail to the shore with me?
Won't you come with me?
Sail to the shore with me
Won't you come with me?
Come with me?
Come with me?
Sail

Love is still here
Never will it leave
You're always with me
And I'm always with you

I'm the morning tide
We'll hoist the sails to break the crushing waves
Won't you come with me and hear the ocean side?
And if to its depths it called us by our names
Won't you sail to the shore with me?
And we'll hoist the sails to break the crushing waves
Won't you sail to the shore with me?
